

As a Stampin' Up! leader, we feel it's important to communicate with you regarding a Gardner family matter.

Stampin' Up! is aware that Mario Fernandez, Shanna Gardner's current husband, has been arrested in conjunction with an ongoing investigation. Shanna (Shelli and Sterling's daughter) and Mario have been separated for an extended period of time. We have no further details about the situation other than what has been reported by the media.

We understand that some demonstrators have received troubling comments about this matter on their social media platforms. Please feel free to delete comments of an inappropriate nature and block/report those commenters on your personal accounts.

You may also share this email with your teams if needed.

Stampin' Up!'s longstanding commitment to you, and all of our demonstrators, is unwavering. Thank you for your concern and continued support.

Sincerely,

Stampin' Up!
