After January 1, 2023, Senate Bill 2, a new law in California was enacted regarding police misconduct. Senate Bill 2 states that law enforcement officers will cooperate when they are listed as witnesses in an investigation into serious misconduct, which shall minimally include the following: Dishonesty, Abuse of Power, Physical abuse, sexual assault, demonstrating bias, egregious or repeated violation of law, participation in a law enforcement gang, failure to cooperate with an investigation into potential police misconduct, and failure to intercede.

The bill disqualifies a person from being employed as a peace officer if that person has been convicted of, or has been adjudicated in an administrative, military, or civil judicial process as having committed, a violation of certain specified crimes against public justice, including the falsification of records, bribery, or perjury. The bill disqualifies any person who has been certified as a peace officer by the Commission on Peace Officer Standards and Training and has surrendered that certification or had that certification revoked by the commission or has been denied certification.

The bill requires an agency employing peace officers to report to the commission the employment, appointment, or separation from employment of a peace officer, any complaint, charge, allegation, or investigation into the conduct of a peace officer that could render the officer subject to suspension or revocation, findings by civil oversight entities, and civil judgements that could affect the officer's certification. In case of a separation from employment or appointment, the bill requires each agency to execute an affidavit of separation form adopted by the commission describing the reason for separation. The bill requires the affidavit to be signed under penalty of perjury.
